About Fulcrum Impact

Fulcrum Impact is a California nonprofit public benefit corporation that helps mission-driven organizations build businesses which fund their work. Through the Academies for Social Entrepreneurship, a nonprofit investment fund, Impact Studio, and fiscal and consulting services, Fulcrum Impact has delivered more than 32 academies, strengthened 300+ organizations with 150 business mentors, and helped partners unlock more than $10M in new investment and earned income.

Recent coverage

The Park, our community virtual paper, publishes new Buena Park stories every week. The latest headlines are always at fulcrumimpact.org/the-park/stories.

At The Park — how an episode runs

Hosted by Archie L. Holton, Paul Van Berkomp and Joe Rivera on Buena Park TV. Each episode is taped live before a studio audience in one continuous block of three ten-minute segments (30 minutes of show):

- Segment 1 (10 min) — Meet and greet and questions from the audience
- Segment 2 (10 min) — Performance
- Segment 3 (10 min) — Interview

Special crew — Students of Buena Park High School Media

Students manned the cameras for audience questions and the meet and greet, and contributed outstanding b-roll: Diego Salgado, Christopher Galvez, Juan Jaimes Parra, Shirlyn Mudambi, Jonathan Delgado, Sean Austin Pring and Henry Trujillo.

Upcoming programming & events

- Buena Park TV — daily community programming produced with Buena Park High School and Buena Park Middle School students.
- In The Mix Buena Park (BP Radio) — 24-hour radio: pop, Latin, R&B, K-pop and local artists, with weekend specialty shows.
- Academies for Social Entrepreneurship — regional three-to-six-month cohorts year-round, closing with a fast-pitch venture competition.
